1. The Medical Academy in Poznan was organized about two years ago along Russian lines. It has the following departments: medical, stomatological and pharmaceutical. There is also an agriculture-forestry section.
2. The University of Poznan has the following departments:

Humanistic Studies	Law
Natural Mathematics	Philosophy
3. The rector of the Medical Academy is Professor (fnu) Ozarniecki. The dean of the medical department is Professor (fnu) Droner, an expert in psychiatry. The assistant dean is (fnu) Drydel who is a trusted party member. He is responsible for political matters in the academy.
4. Several commissions have close liaison with the dean and assistant dean, among them the Qualifications Commission or Board of Admissions, which handles the selection of students, school discipline, financial subsidies for students and billeting. This commission contains representatives of the ZMP (Union of Polish Youth), the PZPR, trade unions, and the faculty.
5. The duration of the stomatology course is four years; on completion, the degree of Master of Stomatology is awarded. There were 150 students in this department in June 1952. The course in the medical department lasts 5 years after which the M.D. degree is awarded. Two hundred and fifty auditors attended these courses. The M.D. degree is an educational title; it can be used if one chooses to teach.
